"PETE" PHILLIPS IS POPULAR PURSER

Walking Encyclopedia of Inter-Island Fleet--Flaurence Ward Back to Port--Mauna Kea From Hilo--Sugar Lists

The average person has an idea that the captain is the most important person on a steamer. This is true up to a certain point but the real man behind the guns is the purser. He it is to whom everyone rushes with their worries and troubles and who has to have stowed away in his head knowledge of everything that exists or has existed.

On the steamers running into this port the pursers, taking them right through, are a good bunch and so much to make their various lines popular. Five minutes after the vessel is alongside the dock their cabin is filled with people all wanting a different thing and what is more all wanting it at the same time.

The purser who loses his head and allows the natural grouch to come out a winner becomes very unpopular and often is left to wonder why he does not receive promotion when the turn comes round. It is a trying situation but one that has to be met nevertheless.

On the local boats, those of the Inter-Island fleet, the pursers have not the luxurious cabins nor have they the means at their disposal for entertaining passengers. At the same time they do their best and in some cases make a very good job of it. People traveling on the Inter-Island boats have always a good word to say for the pursers. They know every inch of the ground and can tell the tourist just what he should do in order to get the most out of his trip.

The best known of the Inter-Island company's pursers is undoubtedly "Pete" Phillips, who holds down the job on the flagship Mauna Kea. Fat and jovial "Pete" has never been seen out of temper and is known from one end of the islands to the other. If you should travel on the Mauna Kea there is always a chance of winning the $5 prize offered for the first passenger to find "Pete" asleep. No matter what hour of the night or day passengers go along to find out when the next whale is to be sighted or what is the name of the first king of the islands he is right there with the information and a smile.

The Mauna Kea would not be the Mauna Kea unless "Pete" was on board and now that she is making two runs a week he has become just twice as useful to the traveling public. He knows every hair on Madam Pele's head and can tell just when it is going to rain in Hilo. May his shadow never grow less.

FLAURENCE WARD BACK.

The schooner Flaurence Ward that left yesterday for Fanning and Midway islands returned to port later in the day, having broken one of the connections to the boiler.

Although this would not necessarily affect the vessel's trip it was felt that as the auxiliary engine might be wanted it was better not to take any risks. She will leave again as soon as the repairs have been effected.

HILO GETTING ON THE "BIG TIME" CIRCUIT.

Hilo has never had, from all accounts which reach here, such a demonstration as is anticipated for the Fourth of July and the steamship and transportation companies on the big island are making it possible for the out-landers to come in and help the big noise.

The street display will be stupendous, in the matter of decorated floats and autos, and the people in charge of the Floral Parade in Honolulu may look to their laurels. There is a lot of originality about Hiloites and a personal pride that will put people of other sections of the Territory to blush. The recent action of the Hilo board of trade shows that there is an amount of civic pride there that will show itself at every opportunity and the celebration on the Fourth will be one of them.

What with horse races, baseball and boxing the time will pass right merrily. The Inter-Island Company will sell round trip tickets good to return to this office.

MURDERER IS IN HOSPITAL HERE

Hilo Tribune, June 18.—Ever since the cold blooded murder at Laupahoehoe some weeks ago, the police have been searching for Kurosima, the Japanese who is alleged to have committed the crime. Every plantation camp has been watched, and the former friends and associates of the man wanted have kept a keen eye out for some sign of him.

Sheriff Pua has had inside information about the murderer's actions, and also of some threats that Kurosima is said to have made regarding another Japanese.

Ever since that, the man who killed the husband of his mistress, had a deep hatred for the man also. This other man was aware of this and, when the horrible murder was committed at Laupahoehoe, he began to get scared. It is alleged that the murderer declared that he would kill the other man, when the opportunity arose.

The threatened man got busy, and wrote to friends and countrymen all over this island. He sought for information regarding the hiding place of Kurosima and, finally, word was sent him from the other side of the island, to the effect that Kurosima had managed to slip aboard an inter-island boat and make his way to Honolulu.

The story goes on to say that the murderer was a sick man when he reached the capital city, and that he had to seek admittance to a Japanese hospital.

All this was told to Sheriff Pua, and he at once wirelessly Sheriff Jarrett the news that Kurosima is supposed to be in a hospital at Honolulu. If the information had reached Sheriff Pua earlier, he would have proceeded to Honolulu in person, and then would have had the pleasure of arresting the murderer himself. However, the Honolulu police department is well able to take care of such matters, and the murderer will be arrested as soon as the hospital in which he is confined is discovered.
